

The Organizing Authority SM

For Immediate Release

Contact: Jill McKean, Organize It
Secretary, NAPO-CT

Date: May 15, 2009

Phone/email: 203-431-6562
jillmckean@organizeit-now.com

RIDGEFIELD ENTREPRENEUR ELECTED NAPO-CT SECRETARY FOR 2009-2010

Ridgefield, CT- Jill McKean, professional organizer and owner of Organize It, has been elected Secretary of the Connecticut Chapter of the National Association of Professional Organizers (NAPO-CT). Jill founded Organize It in 2004. Prior to that, Jill was a financial analyst with a large professional services firm. In addition to NAPO-CT, she is a member of the National Association of Professional Organizers (www.napo.net), the National Study Group on Chronic Disorganization (www.nsgcd.org) and holds a CD Specialist Certificate.

NAPO-CT is a not-for-profit association with 50+ Professional Organizers dedicated to making the lives of their clients easier by transferring organizing skills. Members of NAPO-CT are experts in nearly 42 specialties including: residential organizing – garages, attics, basements, closets, etc.; computer consulting and training; estate organization; event planning; home office and business organizing; finances and bookkeeping; paper management; moving/relocations; seminars/public speaking; organizing Seniors, children, students, adults with ADD and the Chronically Disorganized. For more information, visit www.napo.net and www.napoct.com. Monthly Chapter meetings are open to anyone interested in becoming a Professional Organizer and are held on the third Friday of each month at the North Haven Holiday Inn. Meetings feature guest speakers, education and guidance, marketing tips, networking opportunities and more.